ABOUT

Professionally, I have done freelance for my own company, have worked at a marketing and communications firm, and at various print shops. I have created websites, designed and typeset self-published books, created an interactive digital program for a music festival, and produced a number of digital and print advertising pieces.

I communicate with the client frequently, am flexible, and intentional with my time. I listen to and educate the client throughout the process as I lead them to our mutual goals.
